Chris Webster, the new Econ-Commercial Officer and Ambassador Roberts have had recent useful consultations with the World Bank on Upper Mazaruni, Exim Bank and the Bauxite people at the Bureau of Mines. Hopefully, they will both be well prepared on that subject when they arrive in Georgetown. I envy all of you, George Roberts will be an excellent replacement for Ambassador Burke and I know you will all find his wife Zora delightful.

George will be able to fill you in on the direction that our policy assessment of Guyana will take. I'm not sure when Guyana will come up before the Consultative Committee. I look forward to my return to Georgetown, please let me know if I can bring anything such as potatoes etc.

Regards to all.

Sincerely,

Richard A. McCoy
